The church had been built in 1893 with the tower added in 1900, but was minus a clock at the time of this photograph. The 'tin tabernacle' mission church on the right had served the congregation from 1886 until St Thomas's was built after which it was used as school rooms. These little churches were made in Lincolnshire by Boulton & Paul and sold in kit form all over the world.

30-530 Navi pit South Wigston.JPG		30-530 Navi pit South Wigston Navvies Pit, beyond the footbridge over the railway at the back of Little Hill. Locally it was a wildlife and fishing spot, but its history relates to being dug for the earth required to build the railway between the Spion Kop at Blaby Road, and Kilby Bridge. The remaining 'diggings' flooded and the pit created, but little knowledge existed of where the earth had gone and why. I recall as time went by, there was even talk of the NRA cutting a channel from the Canal at Double rail lock and turning the pit into a marina... but I see today it has reverted to a specimen fishery.

This church was originally built as a Christian Meeting House / Church of Christ. The congregation met in Benjamin Toone's warehouse, a part of his factory (the same Mr Toone who was a partner in the Toone & Black shoe factory). He later built the church on land adjoining. In 1892 it was damaged by fire from an adjoining factory and restored and enlarged. In 1903 the congregation bought it from him. In 1981 the members became part of the URC.

30-004 Dunmore's Factory Fire Canal Street South Wigston.jpg	Picasa	30-004 Dunmore's Factory Fire Canal Street South Wigston This card records that Dunmore's biscuit factory in Canal Street, South Wigston went up in flames on 26th Nov. 1903. An enterprising photographer, J H Wilson of Market Street, Leicester, took this picture & it was processed & postmarked on 3rd December 1903 all within 7 days! The sender's message reads: "We have had a fire in Wigston, it was a dreadful affair & occurred in the night. We saw something of it, there are about 200 thrown out of work in consequence. The pile is still smouldering, 2 large wedding cakes that were due out next day were destroyed. Fats, jams, sugars, butters, margarines, decorations, flour etc., were burned by the ton." Happily the factory was rebuilt & continues, these days it is a branch of United Biscuits which is owned by a Turkish food group name Yildiz. The group make Jacobs & Mcvities products and the Jaffa Cake & Penguin brands.

32-448 Replacement railway bridge over the canal at Crow Mill South Wigston 1912.jpg
32-450 South Wigston railway viaduct washed away in 1840.jpg		32-450 South Wigston railway viaduct washed away in 1840 Trials of the Midland Railway Company. Their Derby to Rugby line via Leicester and Wigston had to cross the canal and River Sence by viaduct. The line was opened on 30th June 1840. The viaduct spanned both water courses with timber trestles and with brick arches between. It collapsed five months later and was rebuilt, the miller having averted a terrible accident by running up the line to warn the approaching train. It partially collapsed again in September 1852 due to floodwater undermining the piers. This engraving of the time was featured in the London Illustrated News. It was reconstructed again and the timbers trestles over the canal replaced with a metal bridge.

He served an apprenticeship to James Woolley (1811–1858), a manufacturing chemist in Manchester, and In time Pochin became James Woolley's partner. Woolley died in 1858 and Pochin became the sole proprietor. Pochin is noted for two important inventions. Firstly, he invented a process that enabled white soap to be made and secondly a means of using china clay to create better quality paper. Pochin bought several china clay mines in Cornwall for this purpose. In time H. D. Pochin & Co. became one of the three largest British producers of china clay until they were acquired in 1932 by the English China Clays.

31-237 Peggy Russell Letter South Wigston 1936.JPG	Brenda Garner	31-237 Peggy Russell Letter South Wigston 1936 Peggy Russell and her elder sister Mary both passed the exams required for entry to Kibworth Grammar School, but sadly being girls it was decided by their parents that they had to get jobs. My Mum really wanted to work in the office at the Wigston Laundry but another girl beat her to it, so she was given a job in the examining and folding section, until she joined the Land Army. My Dad was the type of man who wanted to prove that he could support his wife and didn't want her to work. It was a great pity as I feel that she did n't particularly enjoy being a housewife.

Shared from Leicester Past and Present lovely old pic of Deeming's corner of Fairfield St South Wigston. In my childhood I remember that there was a phone box on the corner with a Policeman on point duty. He knew everyone in South Wigston and if as a child you were naughty you got a clip around the ear! I remember getting a telling off for riding my bike on the pavement near South Wigston High School at the age of 11! Deeming's as a child in the 60's was full of interesting stationery items and toys my brother and I clubbed together our pocket money and bought a potato cap gun.....he is 5 years older than me was that your idea Brian Slaney ? Still remember the smell.

		30-919 South Wigston 1945 after the bombing of Coventry South Wigston 1945 after the bombing of Coventry The Area (Wigston Triangle Railway) between South Wigston and Wigston Magna became a Marshalling Yard. A site was constructed to form a pattern of lights to resemble poorly blacked out buildings trenches were fitted with lights and petrol burners which were electrically lighted. Timing of ignition was crucial and would take place after the first incendiary bombs had been dropped on the target.It was hoped that these could be quickly extinguished and the following aircraft would bomb on the decoys.This site was chosen as it was on the flight path of incoming bombers. The only incident my parents told me about was either an aircraft or bomb being dropped on a Black and White gable ended house No 52 Aylestone Lane, near Beech Court. Maybe a Polish Airman?

She was born in 1912 and lived all her working life in Leicester Highfields. She worked at Allens until her retirement (? 1972 when she was 60). She was a skilled hosiery cutter, and was in fact used for the cutting of sample garments. She died in 1980. As for others on the photo, some of the younger employees might still be alive or be recognised by others.

I will always remember Mark Kenny he was a blond good looking lad, a year or two older than me. He had an absolutely amazing tenor voice. He became a fireman after leaving school and very sadly was killed I think on Moat St travelling to a false call out at Wigston Fire Station.I hope that there is a recording out there of his beautiful voice

Her funeral will be on Tuesday 16th May at 2 o'clock at Countesthorpe Crematorium ... Linda Gordon Hi everyone who replied, I'm Linda Bowles Auntie Margaret was my Mums youngest sister and my godmother. She lived at 54 Rolleston Road since 1956 until 3 years ago when she went into a home. She never married or had children, she lived with my Nannie until she passed away in 1985. Then on her own. She made Age Concern her life, she got the building built on Paddock Street back in the 70's. A lot of what she did will be told at her funeral on Tuesday. I have arranged it so I hope it is a fitting funeral for a very good lady, everyone is welcome.

I do not remember the other boy. My memory of Mr Newman was that he used to play his guitar in class and was fun and kind. However, one day he told me off for using the word 'shift' he told me that it was not a proper word. (I had asked a boy to shift out of my seat, probably it was not a very polite) The next day went up to his desk and I told him that it was a proper word as I had looked it up in my Dad's dictionary.....oh dear I don't think that went down very well.
